Biography

Jeff Revel started out his journey in the wonderful world of technology in 1983, initially as a Trainee Microcomputer Engineer (well that is what he put on his passport at the time!) and rose through the ranks to eventually become IT Director of the company. Having stayed in the technical field for 16 years, Jeff decided to move into a sales role in 1999 and has never looked back.

Jeff joined Diligent in February 2012, finding his time at Diligent over the last 8 ½ years to be the most enjoyable and challenging of his career. He is passionate about empowering organizations with the technology, insights, and processes required to fuel good governance.

Session: Diligent: Solutions for Modern Governance Practices

Executive Assistants play a critical role in facilitating good governance for their organizations. From helping to create board books to ensuring smooth meeting logistics, EAs do it all. But where is the role heading? With the introduction of more digital technologies in boardroom, are you prepared for how your board administrative duties will evolve? What will boards need to “future proof” their organizations, and how can governance professionals help ensure they receive adequate support? Join us to learn more about modern governance practices and how Diligent offers solutions every step of the way, including board portal, secure communication and survey tools.
